Please click here to register! PLC Simulator FREE. Any help on the doc. BF is Bus Fault ie. Profibus etc. and I'm not aware of the BF LED ever flashing at different speeds. Hope that at least helps get you started. Maybe it will help. Here is the manual number I have maybe you can search for it on Siemens web site. Ok, that's fine but one of the guys swapped the bad module that was flashing with another one that is good from the same machine and readdressed it but the error didn't follow the module. Does that make sense. Thanks for the help. When it's first powered on, the interface module's BF indicator should be solid red. The module and master attempt to communicate. The module's address is sent to the master, then hardware configuration data should be sent to the interface module. If the master does not have the data for the node address supplied by the interface module, the module's BF indicator flashes. Make sure that the hardware configured in the SIMATIC Manager is exactly the same as that attached to the module. Any help on the doc. SIMATIC ET 200S is constructed with IP 20 protection and designed for installation in a control cabinet. Depending on the selected header module interface module, S71500, SPCPU, or open controller and parameter assignment, there are different limit values which restrict the maximum configuration of an ET 200S station. This manual contains a description of the components that were valid at the time the manual.
